Critically injured

SEVERE BURNS WERE SUFFERED by Timothy M. Walker, 62, of 125 Carver St. in Eagle Park Thursday afternoon when his northbound International Harvester Scout overturned on Illinois 203 at the railroad underpass near Harrison Street. Madison firefighters cut the battery cables of the vehicle to eliminate any further fire hazard. Walker is in critical condition in the ICU Burn Unit at St. John Mercy Medical Center, St. Louis County, with severe burns over most of his body. A passenger in the car, Emma Mae Smith, 52 of 1121 N. 13th St., East St. Louis, escaped injury.

Students concerned about nuclear disaster

EDITOR'S NOTE: In light of the recent nuclear power disaster in the Soviet Union, many students in Gary Kasprovich's American History 201 class at Granite City High School were asked to write down any feelings they might be having on the tragedy itself or nuclear energy in general. Following are their brief comments.

Kim Asbeck

The use of nuclear power has been a great accomplishment for man scientifically. It has many advantages and uses. However, I think that its disadvantages overpower the advantages. It is too destructive and dangerous for mankind and I am very concerned for the world and its usage.

Leann Swigert

The hazards of nuclear energy heavily outweigh the benefits of using nuclear power. In many cases accidents occur which pose great danger to people in surrounding areas. Before nuclear power is used on a large scale, more precautions should be taken to insure everyone's safety. There should also be better storage after we are through with it.

Rhonda McIntosh

I am very much against the use of nuclear energy. All it does is kill innocent people and destroy the world. I hope that, in my lifetime and my children's lifetime, no one drops the bomb because civilization would be gone. I also feel that Russia needs our help after the accident; even though we are enemies, because there are innocent people there.

Yvonne Gilligan
I don't know what happens if it happens there it can happen here, too. I don't know exactly what the fallout can do to people but I heard this morning that it gives high possibilities for cancer. I also saw them immunizing children and making them stay indoors. They say there are many more problems here and I hope it doesn't reach here. I wish Russia would give more truthful information on what is happening. I just hope it doesn't happen here.

Bill Steagall

Nuclear power would be the answer to all energy problems if it were safe, but since it has proven time and time again to be dangerous, much research should be put into finding alternate energy sources.

Brinckhoff

I feel very sorry for the Russian people. I believe that the Russian government should have taken more precautionary measures against this kind of accident. Nuclear fuel is a needed substance because one day our fossil fuel will run out. Since it is important, every precaution should be taken, much like the precautions that are taken in the United States.

Erik Johnson

Nuclear energy is worth everything that has been put into it, despite what may happen because of it. It is worthwhile because of dwindling natural resources in the world. Regardless of what may happen, the difference is that at Three Mile Island, there is still a great need to explore new sources of energy, nuclear being one of these. Even though accidents may happen, it is overwhelmingly necessary for nuclear energy to be explored.

Jenny Kuller

I don't think there is anything wrong with using nuclear power as long as it is under the very safest, most technologically advanced conditions. Let me tell you the news I heard shows that a power plant in Washington that may be leaking radiation in unsafe levels, but because it was a military operation they don't have to meet as high safety standards. This is uncalled for.

Michelle Jones

As far as the Russian nuclear disaster, I have become more aware and concerned in the aspect of nuclear energy and usage. Before, I had always been afraid that there was no real danger since everything seemed under control. However, now this great catastrophe has arisen and threatens not only the immediate vicinity where the accident occurred but possibly the entire nation and possibly the United States. What is really terrifying is that the Americans or Russians are lying about the true conditions and circumstances of the accident.

Anna Oliver

I think that nuclear energy could be a feasible solution to the problem the United States has with a lack of resources. Nuclear energy plants should be more carefully regulated than they are currently, though. There will always be a certain amount of danger, but care could lessen it.

Greg Czerniejewski

I think the whole country should be afraid about what happened in Russia. For one thing, they tried to cover up the whole incident. I'm afraid that maybe we might be hiding problems occurring with nuclear power. Also, nuclear power itself could be dangerous to lives of people in Illinois and Missouri because of Callaway. If anything happened to that plant like the one in Russia, many people in the bi-state area could be killed or seriously injured.

Partney sues school board

By Bill Milligan
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A suit filed by David Partney against the Board of Education violated provisions of the Illinois Open Meetings Act.

Partney alleges fellow board members Deprey Melton, Marlene Whetstone, Alvin Carter, Karen Hogan, Joileen Terrell and Gerald McKeahan discussed administrative positions during a March 25 executive session without referring to specific individuals.

The suit claims these discussions violate provisions of the Open Meetings Act.

The move came on the last day of a 45-day waiting period, beyond which no legal action could be taken, Partney said.

Since January, he has repeatedly complained the board has violated the Open Meetings Act.

Assistant State's Attorney Bruce Goldstein investigated Partney's allegations late Monday. In his opinion rendered April 10, Goldstein said the board had broken the law.

Goldstein suggested board members discuss a compromise.

"If the state's attorney (Dick Allen) isn't doing his job," Partney said. "After finding the law has been broken, he should have followed it up."

Board members instructed attorney William Schooley to seek a declaratory judgment against Partney at the April 15 meeting. That suit, filed April 21, asks the courts to issue an opinion on the rights and duties of the district with regard to the act.

Partney said his suit makes that action a moot point.

"I think they should drop their suit," Partney said. "If they're found guilty, the judges would have given them the opinion they had broken the law."

"The law has been broken. The board isn't willing to compromise. They're spending taxpayers' money and I have to defend myself out of my pocket," Partney said.

Should the court's rule in Partney's favor, he hopes to recoup his legal expenses.

"I want them (board members) to pay the expense, not the taxpayers," Partney said.

Banks may merge

GRANITE CITY — Shareholders of the American Heritage Bank of Granite City will meet June 10 to consider joining Central Bank System Inc. as a wholly-owned subsidiary.

Headquartered at the former Granite City Trust & Savings Bank on Granite City, Central is a bank holding company formed in 1983. It acquired Trust & Savings in 1983, Central Bank of Glen Carbon and the Farmers & Merchants Bank of Carlinville, both in 1984, and Central Bank of Fairview Heights in 1985.

WITH $216 MILLION in assets on Dec. 31, Central was the 17th largest in the St. Louis area banking market. Including American's $47 million assets, it would be the 13th biggest.

A spokesman said local banking officials believe "competitive pressure will continue to increase as the banking industry continues toward total deregulation, not only as to interest rates but also with the advent of interstate banking."

The 10 largest banking institutions in this metropolitan area have assets exceeding $1 billion each. Central's Central and Central and American directors cited increasing competition for customers and the related need to provide an expanding variety of services.

Patterson's bond was set at $500,000 by Associate Judge Charles V. Riddle Jr.

Patterson, 27, of 2225 Edison Ave., suffered two stab wounds to the chest. His was found by police at 10:58 p.m. Wednesday on the floor of a bedroom in Patterson's home.

He was pronounced dead by Macoupin County Coroner Dick Mizell at 11:30 p.m.

Patterson was lodged in the Granite City jail at 1:06 a.m. Thursday pending investigation of the stabbing.

The murder charge was filed by Macoupin County State's Attorney's office Thursday afternoon.

THE 'BOMB' goes off at Bikini atoll.

Debbie Burmeister

I have many thoughts about this scare. Never have I been for the use of nuclear energy. Even if it is more efficient, is it worth the possibility of taking lives? Just one accident such as this one could have effects on the environment worldwide. Enough is still not known about the after-effects which might be experienced unknowingly in the years to come. Worst of all, I have many relatives living in the radioactive homeland of Ukraine. It will be a shame if I never get to meet them.

Charles Mateosian

I think that it's the responsibility of the Soviets to provide the world with information about the disaster, so that we can better safety measures in the future. It is ridiculous to believe that you can

Hail to the chief

Congratulations are due to Granite City Police Chief Bill Harris and to the teams of investigators who have worked this year on the city's five murder cases.

Arrests have been made in all five cases. The police are batting 1.000.

When Harris made the announcement of the arrest in the Hoffman murders the second time (moments after the press conference at the police department) Thursday evening, during the Public Forum held at the Granite City Township Building, the public applauded. There was relief in the room and appreciation.

Granite Citizens have reason to be proud of their police department.

Soviet censors effective? Da!

Fears that films which portray the Soviets as anything less than enlightened humanitarians may trigger repercussions from Moscow increasingly seem to be inhibiting freedom of expression in the "Free World."

Criticism from the Kremlin's bureaucracy nearly convinced ABC to cancel production of a miniseries to be titled "America."

The miniseries — which ABC Entertainment recently announced would be filmed after all — will depict what life might be like in the United States after a bloodless Soviet takeover.

The Soviets in December intimated that ABC's news operations in Moscow would be jeopardized if "America" was filmed. An ABC official later said that the network had postponed the start of the miniseries because of financial problems, but added that the Soviet objections would play a role in the final decision on whether it would be produced or not.

ABC is to be commended for finally deciding to ignore the Soviet Union's attempt to censor the American entertainment industry. Soviet pressure elsewhere in the world can be more persuasive, however.

A Finnish, Rambo-type movie titled "Born American," about three Americans who decimate a major portion of the Soviet army, has been banned by Finland's state Censorship Board.

Finland's independence is largely guaranteed by its policy of not annoying neighboring Russia.

Markus Selin, the producer of the Finnish movie, criticized the Finnish censors who banned his fictional work and said that "if it had been made in the U.S., they would have let it through without a word." He shouldn't be so sure.

ABC dodged the bullet of domestic criticism by declining to kowtow to the Soviets. It is disconcerting, however, that the network agonized so long and seriously about the dangers of hurting the Kremlin's feelings.

If the Russians persist in attempting to dictate what those in the Free World may watch on TV or in movie theaters, we may have to demand equal rights. There have been rumors, after all, that America is not always portrayed in the best possible light by Soviet filmmakers.

Nurses' Week celebrated in state

By Dorothy Stratman-Lucey
President, 10th District,
Illinois Nurses Association

Governor James Thompson signed a proclamation on March 26 recognizing the 104,000 Registered Professional Nurses in Illinois and proclaiming May 4-10 as Nurses' Week.

May 6 was National Nurses' Day. The Illinois Nurses Association chose as its theme "Health care today is changing. Today, we need a provider who...

Thousands of posters exemplifying this theme, along with further descriptions on nursing, were displayed across Illinois at health care sites and in businesses.

The slogan exemplified the present attitude played by nurses in health care.

Health care today is changing.

Today, we need someone who can help us manage our health care in the hospital, the home, the HMO, the health maintenance organization, the school, the work place, in long-term care and in the community.

Today, we need a provider who can teach us how to stay physically and mentally healthy, and how to prevent illness and disease.

Today, we need access to specialty practitioners who can provide expert health care for individuals and their families.

Today, more than ever, we need an advocate who can deliver quality, cost-effective care throughout all the stages of our care.

Today, we need a nurse.

On July 1, 1985, the Fingerling/Grandados Research Corporation of Washington issued the results of a national poll commissioned by the American Nurses Association. The poll comprised the first large-scale attitudinal study of American views of the nursing profession. Some of the nurses' significant findings include:

• 70 percent of those surveyed believe nurses are prepared to play a larger role in providing health care services to let nurses increase their areas of responsibility, particularly if they receive special training.

• Forty-four of those polled felt if more services were performed by nurses, medical care costs could be lowered.

• Over half believed nurses' salaries and fees were too low and 84 percent favored health plans requiring nurses to practice directly as a method to control costs.

Nurses work in a variety of settings, specializing in many aspects of care for consumers of health care.

National statistics place 65.6 percent of nurses in hospitals, 8 percent in nursing homes, 6.8 percent in community health facilities, 5.7 percent in physical offices, 3.7 percent in nurse education, 3.5 percent in student health and 2.3 percent in occupational health.

The educational standards for nursing are improving, with an increased number prepared at the baccalaureate level. A significant increase in RNs with master's degrees and Ph.D.s is also a healthy sign for the advancement of the profession.

The Illinois Nurses Association-10th District has traditionally had its members work through their places of employment in the celebration of Illinois Nurses Week. We are excited by a profession that is advancing in knowledge and technology as retaining the human qualities of caring.

Nurses are standing up to be counted in Illinois. Recognizing that one in every 44 women voters is a nurse, nurses are becoming politically active.

On April 30, more than 1,500 nurses and nursing students participated in the Illinois Nurses Association Lobby Day.

Special Report:

Police Chief
Bill Harris

Special Report

Police name their suspect: Jack G. Bruce

By Bill Bagby

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Jack Gordon Bruce, 42, of 728 Old Alton Road was arrested at 7 p.m. Thursday for the April 30 double-murder of Carl and Susan Hoffman.

Bruce was charged with four counts of murder, and one count each of home invasion, armed violence and attempted murder.

The charges were signed by Madison County Circuit Judge Charles L. Chapman, who is holding Bruce without bond.

Bruce is still a patient at St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he is listed in satisfactory condition and is expected to be released from the hospital this week. From there he will be taken to the Madison County Jail in Edwardsville.

At a press conference Thursday night held within minutes of the arrest, Police Chief Bill Harris said physical evidence obtained from the Hoffman home had been linked to Bruce. The evidence was examined by the Illinois Crime Laboratory in Fairview Heights, Harris said.

However, Harris said he could not be specific on the evidence that implicated Bruce. It will be presented to a Madison County Grand Jury.

"We're not going to do anything to jeopardize this case," he said.

Harris said evidence also indicates Bruce's shooting on May 3 was self-inflicted.

A motive for the Hoffman murders has been established, but he said he would not comment on what it was until the time of the trial.

Bruce was charged with four counts of murder: two counts for the knifing and shooting of Carl and two counts for the knifing and shooting of Susan.

He was charged with home invasion in that he allegedly forced his way into the Hoffman residence at 1547 Rodger Ave.

The armed violence charge stemmed from the report that he was armed with a pistol.

He was also charged with attempted murder, after he allegedly tried to kill Jennifer Seago, Susan's daughter, who was asleep in the house at the time of the murders. Bruce is accused of turning on gas burners on the kitchen stove and leaving a lit candle nearby.

An information was issued Thursday by Madison County State's Attorney Dick Allen.

Harris said more than 2,000 hours were spent in the investigation and 250 interviews were conducted.

The arrest was made on the last day the Major Case Squad was to be activated. The squad was called in soon after the Hoffman murders, and received a three-day extension Monday.

Carl, 49, and Susan, 27, were found in their home May 1 by Richard Jasudowicz, a salesman from Carl's realty firm. Madison County Coroner Dallas Burke determined later that day that the Hoffmans were stabbed repeatedly and shot.

Jasudowicz had called the Hoffman home at 8:30 a.m. that day when Carl and Susan, a secretary at Carl's firm, failed to arrive for work.

Jennifer told him her parents were still asleep.

Jasudowicz called back at 9 a.m. and the girl said she could not wake them.

At about 9:30 a.m., he drove to the Hoffman residence and found the girl, dressed in a night gown, watching television in the living room where the bodies were found.

Jasudowicz took the girl out of the home because of the strong odor of gas. He went to a neighbor's home where he called police and an ambulance.

Carl, and the former Susan Ralls Seago, were married Dec. 18, 1985, and had purchased the Rodger Avenue home in March.

Police were investigating the connection between the double murders and the shooting of Bruce on May 3 because Bruce and the Hoffmans were friends.

About 3 p.m. last Saturday, Bruce called an ambulance from his home. He claimed a man had shot him in the abdomen with a small caliber gun.

Bruce was recovering in the intensive care unit of St. Elizabeth Medical Center until Monday. He was placed under guard in his room on Wednesday.

Other revelations made in Hoffman murder case

GRANITE CITY — Following the fire at Jack G. Bruce's home in October, he received an insurance settlement of at least $20,000, a source told the Press-Record/Journal Saturday.

"It was more than $20,000," the source said.

Bruce and Carl Hoffman were big-stakes gamblers, according to various sources. Hoffman was a big winner.

"I know Carl came here one day with $6,000 he won from Bruce," the source said.

The source could not confirm exactly how much money Bruce lost to Hoffman.

The information followed reports in area dailies that Bruce was indebted to Hoffman for a loan of $10,000. Hoffman was reportedly overheard making an angry demand of Bruce to repay the money.

Taken in a police search of the Bruce home on May 6 were a .22-caliber pistol and clothing with a red substance on them, according to reports. Bruce's home was searched following his shooting, which police say was self-inflicted.

Police tight-lipped about motive, but others talking

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY - Police are being tight-lipped about the motive they say exists in the Hoffman murders.

In a terse statement read Thursday night before the region's newsmen, Police Chief Bill Harris said, "The motive behind the murders of Carl and Susan Hoffman has been established but will not be commented upon until time of the Bruce trial."

In every public place in Granite City this week it's been easy to overhear or get involved with talk of the brutal murders of Carl and Susan Hoffman.

The deaths of the well-known realtor and his recently wed wife have resulted in many rumors; some clearly fantasy. Others, however, which include talk of drug and/or gambling connections between Carl and the man accused of his murder, Jack G. Bruce, were repeated often enough that staff members began checking them.

When told about the rumors, Harris stuck to the decision not to say what police believe is the motive. He does not like the rumors, but will not release clarifying information because he said it might jeopardize the case.

Through contact with various sources, the Press-Record/Journal has pieced together information about the case that leads us to conclude a gambling link existed between Carl and Jack.

Based on the information, Jack and Carl are among several area residents who played in high-stakes card games in Granite City locations, including the back room of a local bar. One source said pots reached $500.

Another, who participated in the games, said he quit when competition reached $20 per card.

How Bruce, unemployed as a boilermaker for more than a year, could participate in such games could not be substantiated. But he was nonetheless seen as recently as three months ago playing cards with Hoffman.

Following his hospitalization Saturday for what police are calling

Victims

Carl and Susan Hoffman

a self-inflicted gunshot wound, Jack mentioned gambling with Hoffman to his mother, Dorothy.

"He said, 'Mother, don't worry about it (the murders). I didn't do it. They even think I shot myself,'" she said Thursday evening after learning of Jack's arrest. "He (Carl) was my friend and I had no reason to shoot him. We hadn't even played cards in a long time. The last time we played, I won."

While sitting late Thursday night in the bar where Jack and Carl were said to have played, patrons became quiet when news of the arrest was announced on television.

One said if Jack was guilty, then he ought to be punished by letting him loose in Granite City where the public could find him.

Two persons said they knew Jack and Carl had gone into a back room at the bar to gamble.

One source stated Carl was a "big winner" during a period in which Jack was a "big loser" in the card game. The period reportedly came after an insurance settlement received by Jack following a fire in October at his home on Old Alton Road.

Again, this supposed link between Carl and Jack could not be verified through the police chief. He would not confirm, deny or comment in any way on if the link has anything to do with the motive police say they've got to establish Jack as the Hoffmans' murderer.

Concerning other rumors in the Hoffman case, our investigation resulted in little to support them.

The small quantity of a controlled substance, probably cocaine, that we have been told was found on the living room floor of the Hoffman home leads to the possibility that the drug was planted there or, if it belonged to the Hoffmans, it was meant only for home use.

Harris declined comment on the rumor.

Though there may be reason to conclude Jack and Carl gambled together and a small amount of cocaine was in the residence following the Hoffman murders, the meaning, if any, behind these findings in light of Jack's arrest remains inconclusive.

The public will likely continue to draw its own conclusions until the police version of the Hoffman murders is revealed.

What the police reveal before the grand jury as the motive in this case may differ from what we have reported. Three newsmen and a handful of interviews with persons who are afraid to be quoted can't compare with the thorough work of 21 members of the Major Case Squad who conducted 250 interviews with everyone they, as police officials, thought might help them. Though police will not confirm any of the material in this article, it is accurate to the best of our knowledge and ability.

Getting all of the other side of story simply was not possible

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — There are two sides to every story, but every effort failed to get the side of the principal character in the Hoffman murder case, the man accused of the crime, Jack G. Bruce.

His mother, Dorothy, was in the living room of her neatly kept home watching television when I arrived.

Such situations are always sticky and I was nervous about talking to her. Having met with the white-haired lady once before, I knew I didn't care to do anything to increase her hurt.

Had she seemed the slightest bit hesitant, I'd have turned around. But she invited me in and offered me a place on the flowered couch.

I didn't have to ask if she'd heard the announcement of the arrest made some 45 minutes prior to my arrival. She was calm, the kind of emotion expected from a former nurse.

But it wasn't easy. She'd just gotten over the fear that her son might die from the gunshot wound to the stomach he received May 3 and now, just five days later, she was enduring the second shock that Jack had been arrested for murder.

She explained why Jack couldn't be reached during my calls to St. Elizabeth Medical Center earlier that evening. The hospital insisted Jack had never been admitted and then, finally, I was told to call security, who never answered the phone. Dorothy said he was under guard, he didn't have a phone, his razor had been taken and he couldn't have visitors.

In fact, just before police came to formally charge him at 7 p.m., she was escorted from the room.

Dorothy doesn't believe her son killed Carl Hoffman. They were friends, she said.

They played cards together, but concerning stories of big winners and losers, she couldn't support them.

"I just know they played cards," she said.

We sat on the couch together watching "North and South" for a few minutes.

The phone rang and a friend said she'd just heard the news of Jack's arrest on one of the television stations. She flipped the channel, but the update report was over; there would be news at 10.

"There's just no way that he could kill that man," she said. "He (Jack) was standing here on my porch when he found out. He was bringing his dirty clothes to me."

She went to the kitchen to pour me a glass of iced tea while I sat listening to "Cheers."

The phone rang again.

I had the feeling it would ring all night.

She probably would have allowed me to continue to intrude into her life, but there was no reason. Her daughter was there for support.

There was nothing left but to wish her hope.

Students discuss

use nuclear power as fuel and not take certain safety measures. But I do believe that if we use nuclear power, there will be accidents — that's part of the game — but if the human race wants to proceed in the advancement of life, it should do so safely, even if it is costly in terms of money.

Eric Luehmann

I feel nuclear energy is an efficient energy source, but there should be more safety precautions involved. Also, if some problem would occur there should be a way to deal with it, like finding a way to put out a graphite fire.

Ata Rehman

I think that there is risk involved in the process you make, but that does not mean that you stop the progress just because of fear. For example, there have been a lot of incidents where planes have crashed and a lot of people were killed, but that does not mean that planes should not be traveling in airplanes. So what I mean is just because this nuclear crisis occurred, we should not give up this excellent source of energy but should work on making it more safe.

Kris Koziolak

I think nuclear power is a necessary source of energy, especially as our natural resources dwindle. However, I also feel that changes must be made in order to completely control nuclear reactions safely. With accidents such as Three Mile Island and now the disaster in Russia, we begin to worry. Even though this happened, it could easily be released and it could soon build up to dangerous levels in the atmosphere. I think the power must be controlled.

Heather Perdue

I dislike nuclear energy. I fear what course we might take with it. Also, the nuclear plants seem to always have failures or problems which deface the land or kill the people, which to me is wrong and that is what they do, I don't want them. We don't need them.

Ernest Peppillier

I feel that there is too much concern about what might happen. Nothing will happen unless the right precautions are taken. I feel sorry for the people of Russia since most of them don't know what happened.

Carolyn Cramer

Although nuclear energy provides a more inexpensive source of power, the dangers and environmental disadvantages are real. The situation at Chernobyl could happen in the U.S. which would endanger not only Americans but other people and animals as well. Energy would be unnecessary with no one to use it.

Darin Hendrickson

I think the accident in Russia was a terrible disaster that could have been prevented.

If they would have only done a little more to prevent it, it would have been prevented.

Cindy Wilson

I don't agree with nuclear power. The accident in Russia shows how nuclear energy can destroy life. Waste from the nuclear energy is a big problem.

If we bury it, it contaminates our

Madison jail improvements being planned

By Donna Kimbro
Staff writer

Madison — A surprise inspection of the city jail facility by the Illinois State Police State Trooper Force resulted in a recommendation for four improvements to be completed immediately, Charles Bridick, interim police chief, said at a City Council meeting Tuesday night.

The list includes an exit sign to be installed on the side door; removal of the upper bunks in each of the two cells (the jail will now house four people instead of eight); eliminating the metal in the cell bars; and updating the sanitary facilities of each cell.

Bridick said the first two suggestions will be no problem to correct, and the window glass and screens can be removed and a metal frame installed to protect the inside and outside of the window openings. The sanitary facilities would have been finished by now but the company providing the new equipment sent the wrong type, it was returned and the correct equipment is expected to arrive soon.

"I am just giving the council this report and it is up to the aldermen when this work can be done. The other recommendations will be the ones that will be implemented at the back of the building adjacent to the jail area. This can be done within the year," Bridick said.

A police department report for March noted the city received $400 from the office of Willard Portell, clerk of the circuit court, for fines collected during the month. The city also received $229 in fines from St. Clair County for the same period of time.

The numbers of arrests in March were 202 adults and 16 juveniles.

Banks may merge

has Illinois subsidiaries through a "grandfather clause" recognizing longtime ownership. A second major bank has announced it will merge with an Illinois bank chain after July 1. Neither of St. Louis banks referred to owns any Quad-City Area banks.)

Approval of a Central-American merger received two-thirds approval of the American shareholders. As of April 24, American's directors, executive officers and affiliates accounted for 42.6 percent of the voting power.

CENTRAL HAS APPROVED THE PROPOSAL.

At the time of his death in December 1985, Henry D. Karandjeff was chairman and president of American Heritage Bank and a director of Central Bank. He was a past chairman and past president of the Trust & Savings Bank.

His descendants and other members of the Karandjeff family own or have voting power over 57.7 percent of Central's stock, 54.8 percent of Central Banc stock.

IN ADDITION to shareholder approval — and the expected issuance of a legal opinion that it is a tax-free reorganization — the merger is subject to approval by the Federal Reserve and to conditions agreed upon by the holding company and bank.

When they unanimously recommended approval by shareholders, American Heritage Bank board members described the exchange ratio — 2.37 shares of Central for each share of American as a fair price for the stock.

They noted that the merger would enable trust services to be provided by American and also allow it to cross-sell automated teller facilities through Central's Total Teller network.

THE BANK WAS FORMED IN 1959 as the American National Bank. The name was changed when it became a state bank in 1977.

The former Trust & Savings Bank dates back to 1910.

Present Central and American officers, directors and employees are to be retained.

KEITH KARANDJEFF SR. is chairman of Central Banc System, Central Bank of Granite City and American Heritage Bank of Granite City.

E. A. "Drew" Karandjeff Jr. is president of Central Banc, Granite City, and Central Bank of Glen Carbon.

Robert H. Karandjeff is president of American Heritage Bank. A former American Banc president, Harold F. Karandjeff, is retired and lives in Florida.

New 5-year contract on managing GC Army base

Peter B. Gannon, president of Bell Technical Operations Corp., Tucson, Ariz., has announced the award of a new contract for management of operation of the U.S. Army's St. Louis Area Support Center (SLASC) in Granite City.

Gannon and Donald C. Wheeler, who had been the director of the predecessor contract, will continue as director on the new contract.

The strong performance of our St. Louis area personnel under the leadership of Don Wheeler is the reason we were able to win the program for another five years," Gannon said.

Bell Technical Operations Corp. merged with and became an operating unit of Avco Management Services/Textron (AMST) in January 1986.

The management of the St. Louis Area Support Center has been an AMST contract for the past four years and we are pleased that our newest operating unit is continuing the operations," said Paul S. Watson, president of Avco Management Services. "Avco is very proud of the accomplishments of AMST headquarters in Houston."

The new SLASC contract, which will start June 1, 1986, will provide management, engineering, administration, personnel, material and supply services to the Support Center as well as to the Center's housing areas.

Gannon said the new contract requires an increase in engineers to support the Facilities Engineering Department, and a planned acquisition of a small warehousing activity to support Hill Air Force Base, and added an emphasis on the Quality Assurance function, which has been elevated to the corporate level.

The SLASC base is the former Granite City Army Depot.

Motorcyclist flees from GC officer

GRANITE CITY — A Granite City man was charged May 4 with fleeing and attempting to elude police following a chase by a Granite City police officer.

William Lowrey, 21, of 2134 Ohio Ave. was also charged by police with having an invalid registration.

A patrolman observed Lowrey riding a three-wheeled motorcycle in the 1700 block of Poplar Street. When Lowrey saw the officer, he allegedly turned to his left and fled at a high rate of speed.

The officer followed him through the alley and then through the Jaycees Field. The motorcycle next went through a ditch along Illinois 3.

Lowrey was seen coming out of the ditch and the officer continued the pursuit down 3. After the officer drove down Independence Drive, he reported finding Lowrey in a field. As the officer drove through the field, Lowrey's motorcycle hit a utility pole.

Lowrey then drove off the field onto a gravel road. The officer decided to stop the pursuit for fear of losing control of the squad car on the road, which contained a large amount of debris.

Lowrey later reported to the Granite City police station. He told the officer he panicked when he saw the squad car, causing him to flee.

Described as having short black hair, a small nose and very dark skin, the man, whom the man was about 5 feet 10 inches to 6 feet tall. He left in an auto occupied by two women.

A description of the car and suspects was broadcast and the auto was recovered by police officers. Eight video cassette tapes, a cassette stereo radio and a quantity of clothing items were recovered from the vehicle.

Q. If a person has an additional source of income, other than his full-time job, should they be reported on a loan application?

A. Yes. When applying for a loan, you should report additional income besides your normal income, to help support your loan application. You should be aware you may be asked to support such information. If, for example, you indicate a monthly income from investments of $1,000, you may be asked for proof. Also, income from alimony may or may not be included, at your discretion, on certain types of loans. Every loan application is required to carry a statement indicating that alimony or child support income need not be revealed if the applicant does not wish to do so. If you feel your regular earned income will not be substantial in applying for a loan, it would probably be a good idea to indicate alimony or child support. Again, depending on the nature of the loan, the amount and the purpose to which the funds will be put, you may be required to submit proof of such payments.

A REMINDER FROM THE LAW TODAY

In recent months, newspapers, television and the rest of the media have devoted a tremendous amount of coverage to the issue of medical malpractice. Many of these programs and articles convey the impression that members of the medical profession are victims of baseless malpractice actions brought by clever lawyers, and that those suits cause the cost of insurance and medical care to skyrocket. Is this true? A recent study by the Public Citizen Health Research Group shows that the medical profession almost never disciplines those doctors who do not do their jobs right. During the year 1983, for example, medical authorities in nine states and the District of Columbia took NO SERIOUS DISCIPLINARY ACTION against any of the 18,000 doctors who practice in those areas. It would be seriously said that not one of these doctors ever failed to live up to the standards of care expected of them? Of course not. These figures suggest that, instead of concentrating its efforts on making it harder for injured people to recover, the medical profession would best serve society by taking steps to ensure that its less capable members either sharpen their skills or find other lines of work. Such steps would lower insurance costs while providing increased production to the general public.

We will discuss this and other relevant topics on this Tuesday's program.

The resolutions covered such topics as parental rights, "economic disarmament," illegal aliens, terrorism, drug abuse, illiteracy, and advancement of space technology.

Lee discussed the DAR in Illinois, noting that it has the largest membership in the country, with over 11,000 members in 131 chapters. Illinois took first place in junior sales and in the registrar general's project, while placing second overall in donations to the museum and Symes chases, showing examples of a variety of jewelry.

Also attending the meeting were Mrs. William C. Fullerton, regent of Dr. Silas Hammill Chapter, Jerseyville, and members from area cities. Granite City members were Mrs. Ralph Wilson, state chairman, DAR magazine, and member of Drusilla Andrews Chapter of Granite City.

Mrs. McCormick, Emma Schoen, Jane Vanesler, Linda Koenig, Mary Candler, Joyce Taff, Georgia Engelke and Florence Simpson.

An Arbor Day ceremony held at Alton High School Saturday was attended by Drusilla Andrews Regent Sandra Wilkinson, Joyce Taff, Linda Koenig and Janet Wilson. # Huneke named new soccer coach

By Gregg Ochoa

Executive Sports Editor
EDWARDSVILLE — Ed

Huneke has come full circle.

Huneke, a former soccer player at Vandalia High School, was named that school's second coach Friday afternoon.

The announcement, made officially at a press conference at the Vandalia High School, ended a two-month-long search for a new soccer coach at the University. Huneke, 36, succeeds Bob Guelker who died of a heart attack on February 22.

"This is needless to say a dream come true," said Huneke, dressed in a pinstriped suit. "For any coach to make it through the ranks and then come back to be coach of his alma mater, it is really a good feeling."

A former Cougar and past president of the SIU alumni association, Huneke was selected from a field of four finalists. The others were Gene Baker, the Granite City High School coach; Terry Michler, CBH High School coach and Tom Guelker, the former coach at St. Louis University.

In all, more than 30 applications were received by school officials. The field was narrowed to four in April and those four were then interviewed by the search committee.

Sources indicated that Baker and Huneke were main two candidates eyed by the search committee after the interview process.

"We had four great candidates," said Lynn Lashbrook, president of the search committee. "They would have all done an outstanding job. It got so frustrating at times that maybe we should have just had a skill test and have them kick a soccer ball to decide who would be the coach."

Huneke is currently the head coach of Lewis and Clark Community College in Godfrey. In 10 seasons, he compiled a record of 174-33-6. He guided the Bucks to the National Junior College Athletic Association tournament six times, including the last four years.

His teams won seven Midwest Championships and seven Illinois State championships. He was selected Midwest Coach of the Year in 1981, 1984 and 1985; Midwest Inter-Regional Coach of the year in 1976 and 1978; and national junior college coach of the year in 1982.

Under Huneke, the Bucks finished second in the nation in 1982, third in 1983 and 1984 and fourth in 1985.

Huneke also coached several select youth teams during the past six years.

A former All-American player from UIC, Huneke played under the man who will succeed — Bob Guelker.

Guelker started the soccer program at St. Louis University in 1959 and coached there until 1966. During that time the Billikens were 95-95 and won five NESCAC Division I championships.

From there, Guelker moved to SIU in 1967. He won the 1972 NCAA Division II national title (the first ever on that level) and in 1979 the Cougars won the NCAA Division I crown.

Guelker also became only the third coach in collegiate history to win 300 games when the Cougars beat the University of Missouri Rolla 1-0.

"For any coach who follows someone of the stature of a Bob Guelker it becomes difficult," Huneke said.

Huneke is confident of the new start. "I tend to be more interested in what I plan to do and what you will see of our accomplishments," he said.

Lashbrook said one of the main reasons for Huneke's hiring was his previous record. "Ed brought proven experience at the collegiate level that none of the others have," Lashbrook said.

"At a junior college you have a lot of preparation for the four-year level," Lashbrook said. "You have to teach the players quicker and recruit harder."

Huneke won't have to worry about recruiting this year as that process was taken care of after Guelker's death.

The Cougars return 18 letterman from last year's team which finished 13-7. Included is Steve Tritschell of Granite City and leading scorer Tom Stone.

SIU has already signed three high school blue chippers — Kevin Hundert of Aquinas-Mary, Jeff Metz of Vianney and James Hemmsey of McQuarrie North.

Huneke, who received a bachelor's degree in marketing, plans to use those skills to fill up the stands.

"It's going to be there, touching the flesh and trying, but of course one of the best ways to draw interest is to present a good product," Huneke said.

The last person interviewed among the final four coaches said the wait has been a long one. "It's always tough with all the uncertainty and the speculation," Huneke said. "I had good vibrations after the interview and I felt very comfortable."

The new coach said one of the first things on the job will be to meet with all the players individually and "get to learn all the NCAA rules."

Huneke lives in Belleville Neighborhoods, an incorporated area of North St. Louis County. He is married and has three children.

LeVault pitches Warriors over Alton, 6-2

By Dave Whaley

Staff Writer

ALTON — How well Granite City does in the postseason will likely depend on pitching.

Friday night, Scott LeVault proved once and for all that the Warriors can still host quality pitchers to the mound. He allowed only two hits as the Warriors rolled to a 6-2 win over Alton in a Southwestern Conference game.

The victory lifted the Warriors' record to 17-11 and 7-1 in the SWC. They now have a shot at a share of the league crown if they beat Belleville East and Collinsville this week.

But back to LeVault. The junior righthander allowed only a bloop double to Scott Allsman in the second, scored two runs, and a harmless single by Bill Gaither in the seventh.

"Scott did a real nice job for us," said Warrior coach Bob Stegemeyer. "I think he walked five, but they were all early in the game."

Stegemeyer, who collected the 17th victory of his career at

ALTON	Allman, 2B, RBI; Gaither, 1B, LP; Moore, 7 Inn., SO4, BB4, LOB-5.

LeVault's pitch delivery helped him settle down after the early walks.

"Scott started working from the stretch between with nobody on base, which helps him slow down," the coach said. "It helped him quite a bit, obviously."

The Warrior offense, meanwhile, provided LeVault with all the runs he needed in the first two innings.

Todd Hinterer and Matt Roe had first-inning RBIs off of Redbird starter and loser Jerome Moore. Then the Warriors got their vaunted running game going in the second.

For LeVault, got a one-out hit, then stole both second and third. He now has 24 steals on the year.

Todd Adamitis walked with two out and also stole second. When catcher Kent Cubbage's throw went into center field, Becker trotted home with the run that made it 2-0.

Alton got one overall, 16 in the SWC, threatened in the second when Moore and Allsman walked, but LeVault fanned Gaither and Toe Twichell to end the inning.

The Redbirds got two runs in the fourth, however, one of them scored by Allsman, and then Kline walked and then Allsman blooped one down the right field line which just eluded the glove of Adamitis. Scanlon scored easily and Kline made it 3-2 when Jamie Hogan's relay skipped past catcher Moore.

Allsman was at third with the tying run and only one out, but Gaither popped out to Jamie Hogan and Twichell fanned. LeVault had six strikeouts.

The Redbirds got only one more run, but the Warriors padded their lead in the sixth when Hinterer walked and Roe singled.

LeVault pitched a complete game.

Jim Chomko moved them along with a nice sacrifice bunt and Doug Parmenter scored Hinterer trotted home with the run that made it 6-2.

Tim Hogan, who earlier in the week set a stolen bases in a game, scored the winning run with a triple, second and third.

He scored the winning run with a wild throw. Twichell then muffed Steve Davis' pop-up, as Jamie scored to make it 6-3.

"I think we should be rated above Cahokia because we beat them," the coach said.

The Warriors play at Belleville

East Monday in a makeup of a rainout April 21, then play at Collinsville Thursday before closing the regular season with a doubleheader at Carbondale Saturday.

Becker has 24.

"To be fair, Freddy has been playing hurt lately," Stegemeyer said. "He hasn't been running as much as he could be. But give him credit for playing hurt."

Stegemeyer will be determined Tuesday, and the Collingson is hoping to be in the top three with East St. Louis and Belleville Althoff. The two top seeds get byes while Nos. 3 and 4 play at home in the first game.

"I think we should be rated above Cahokia because we beat them," the coach said.

Cougars sweep Indians

By Al Barnes

EDWARDSVILLE — Two Granite City natives turned in brilliant performances Tuesday as the Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and the Indians of Southern Missouri State split doubleheaders.

SIU won the opener 8-4, while SEMO poured it on in the nightcap, 18-4.

Danny Patterson won the duel between the two and the Cougars managed to have both Patterson as SEMO's hard-hitting first baseman went 4 for 7. Both finished with three RBIs and two runs scored.

The split gave the Cougars a 38-16 record, which is two wins less than last year. The Indians are now 28-14, but have only the slightest hope of receiving an NCAA postseason bid.

However, Coach Gary Collins of SIU, who has taken his team to the national tourney three of the last four years, appears in real good shape to do so again.

The Cougars have now won eight of their last 10. They have just four games remaining, all against the strong Lewis College nine of Joliet — doubleheaders Saturday and Sunday.

Last weekend in Dayton, Ohio, the Cougars failed to defend their Wright St tournament crown of 1985 as they dropped a heart-breaker, 2-1, to the Raiders.

One of the main reasons for the Cougars' surge this season has been the hitting and catching of DePew. In the previous 250 in the last four weeks, he has hit seven homers, nine doubles and three triples, and is tied with Tony Duenas for the team lead in RBIs with 40.

In addition to his skillful handling of Cougar hurlers, his rifle peg was cutting down would-be base stealers. In the last eight games, DePew has thrown out eight of 12 runners.

The Cougars expect to hear about a tournament bid after Sunday's games.

Helfrich wins feature at Tri-City

By Joe Senter

GRANITE CITY — Tom Helfrich of Haubstadt, Ind., was the Late Model Stock Car feature event winner at Tri-City Speedway Saturday night.

Helfrich, driving his No. 71 Firebird, wasted no time in taking the lead. He had to fight off some stiff competition from Perry Tripp of Farmington and Arnold's Mike Wallace.

Helfrich slowed down midway through the race when it appeared he had developed engine problems. That allowed John Gill to pass him and take the lead.

Two laps later, however, Helfrich regained power and passed Gill. He maintained that lead the rest of the way and went on to win the race.

Gill held on for second place while Tripp crossed the finish line in third place. Rounding out the other finishers were: Allen Thomas, Ron Fisher, Wallace, Darrel Sprindler, Charlie Senterman and Pat Walsh.

John Wolfmier took the Sportster's Car feature followed by Steve Quartermous and Bob Stanton. Wolfmier also won the heat race, followed by C.C. Senter.

The Street Stock feature was won by Bill Paton followed by Roy Braundmeier and Darrel Hoffman.

NOTES: Sharon Rhoads returned to the track after her bad crash last week when she ran into the concrete wall. She was only shaken up in that incident.
